Description

We have been using group homepage redirection at login time for months on 1.10cvs with no problems. But in the latest couple of months, I would say, some bug might have been introduced since it stopped working recently ago, just after a cvs update.

We've noticed that if we uncheck: "Go to group homepage only if login from default homepage:" (at Admin -> General), then redirection works again (but we loose the right direction when somebody goes to the tiki site after clicking to a forum post url from their email program on local.

A bit more info: if this is the same feature I am seeing, it seems to come from some errant information in `$_SESSION`, which is loaded from `lib/userslib.php` around line 1312. `var_dump` shows this:
`$_SESSION'u_info'group'groupName' is "&stringx = 'groupname...'"`

From that point on it fails: the code in `get_user_default_homepage` breaks down and just gets the first letter of the groupname, which it then tries to find a group homepage for (and fails, since it only has one letter...) and the process goes downhill from there.

I ended up commenting out the `$_SESSION` stuff at 1312-ish in `lib/userslib.php` and it seems to work, but I don't know what else I broke in the process, so that isn't the Real Fix but may help someone else fix the real bug.
